New Mexico Economic Development Department to Participate in Free Small Business Education and Training Program on the State's Angel Investment Tax Credit

Santa Fe - As part of a new series of free small business education and training programs sponsored by Santa Fe SCORE, the New Mexico Economic Development Department (NMEDD) will take part in "Equity Financing - A Mini NM Angels Boot Camp." This event will be held May 8 from 6 p.m. - 8:30 p.m. at Santa Fe Business Incubator located at 3900 Paseo del Sol, Santa Fe, NM 87505. To register call 505-424-1140 Opt 1 or e-mail: scoreseminars@hotmail.com

Presenters will be John Chavez, president of the New Mexico Angels; Lawrence Chavez, CEO, Lotus Leaf Coatings; Juan Torres, NMEDD and Marie Longserre, president and CEO of the Santa Fe Business Incubator.

The seminar will introduce entrepreneurs to equity financing, developing your company structure, term sheets, valuing your company for investment purposes and how the New Mexico Angel Investment Tax Credit can benefit your investors.

The New Mexico Angels are a New Mexico based group of individual accredited angel investors. For more information log on to www.nmangels.com. For more information about the Angel Investment Credit log on to http://www.gonm.biz/tax_incentives.aspx.
