Webinar: Grants for U.S. Small Businesses to Sell Overseas

Did you know New Mexico is a leader in export growth?

SANTA FE, N.M. – U.S. Small Business Administration in partnership with the New Mexico Economic Development Department is presenting a webinar on Dec. 15, 2020 that will help businesses learn how to increase revenue and profits by tapping into overseas markets.

The New Mexico Economic Development Department has funding and expertise to help businesses expand into international markets via the internet. Grants up to $10,000 are available from the SBA's State Trade Expansion Program (STEP) and EDD's Office of International Trade.

E-commerce sales have accelerated in 2020 and 95% of the world's consumers are outside the United States. EDD is urging businesses to take advantage of this timely opportunity to learn how to generate more revenue from foreign markets.

Join the Economic Development Department and the SBA's Office of International Trade on Tuesday, December 15, from 12-1 p.m., to learn more about the exciting potential of international markets.

The discussion will include successful exporters who have used STEP grants for a variety of business needs, including website translation, SEO, digital marketing strategies, ecommerce expansion, intellectual property protection, and a range of other activities.

Participants will also learn how to apply for a STEP grant and have an opportunity to ask questions about the program.
