The New Mexico Film Office Announces Television Series Atomic Gold has Completed Production in New Mexico

SANTA FE, N.M. – The New Mexico Film Office today announced the television series Atomic Gold has completed production in New Mexico. The film is produced by Unrealistic Ideas. Filming took place through August 2021 in Alamogordo, Carrlota Canyon, Hatch, Las Cruces, Santa Fe, and Truth or Consequences, New Mexico.

“Atomic Gold has selected a number of beautiful locations that will showcase a wide range of what New Mexico offers in terms of looks and landscapes,” said Amber Dodson, Director, New Mexico Film Office.

Atomic Gold is produced by Unrealistic Ideas. Atomic Gold is the story of the Noss Family who in the 1903s discovered what could be the largest treasure horde of the American Southwest, located at the base of Victorio Peak in New Mexico. With unique access via the Department of Defense to excavate the site and unique access to hundreds of hours of archival film and video, photographs, and thousands of documents covering 50+ years of this story, Atomic Gold follows the Noss family as they venture back to Victorio Peak.

The production employed 3 New Mexico crew members.
