Summary of Project Outcomes

The NM Tech Performing Arts Series (NMTPAS), a department within the NM Institute of Mining and Technology (NM Tech), presents excellent, innovative and engaging multicultural performances and events that strengthen and educate our vibrant and diverse community, cultivate collaboration, and contribute to the economic development of Central NM. In support of our Mission, we utilized our Creative Industries award to address the growing need for people skilled in live entertainment event production; and to support the production of live entertainment events and arts education programs.

We teamed up with New Mexico Tech's Communication, Liberal Arts & Social Sciences (CLASS) and Continuing Education departments, and Macey Center, to create a beta training class called Live Entertainment: Tech & Production, a 9-module course to develop a community workforce for theaters, festivals, concerts, film and more.

Students learned the nuts and bolts of producing events—booking entertainment and venues, fundraising and marketing—lighting, sound, set design, rigging, gallery exhibiting, live streaming, video documentation and graphic design, in Macey Center, our professional theater in Central New Mexico, with industry standard equipment and technology, taught by local, state and national arts professionals. They then applied what they learned, gaining hands-on experience, working as crew support for PAS shows and other community events.

We accomplished our goals of training a skilled workforce, a few who have already found jobs in the industry, reaching 50+ college and high school students, and community members, and developing relationships with stellar practitioners in the field.

Along with supporting our arts presenting program, we also used our award to fund arts groups and events like Socorro Community Theater's (SCT) Fall Play, As You Like It; NMT CLASS Department and SCT's production of The Addams Family Musical; providing sound engineer for live music at Festival of the Cranes annual Art Fair; the summer youth residency with the Missoula Children's Theater; local and NM artists for the upcoming 4th of July Celebration concert and SocorroFest; and local culinary artists; all in collaboration with multiple NM Tech departments, the City, Socorro Consolidated Schools and local stakeholders.

Project Locations

All training and productions took place in Socorro County, with the Live Entertainment: Tech & Production courses taking place entirely on the New Mexico Tech campus.

Events such as the Festival of the Cranes Annual Art Fair, Missoula Children's Theater Free Acting Workshops, 4th of July Celebration and SocorroFest take place in multiple locations around the City of Socorro, including the Garcia Opera House, Socorro Public Library, Socorro Youth Center, Socorro Rodeo & Sports Complex and our Historic Plaza.

Anticipated Job Creation

Through the Live Entertainment: Tech & Production courses, locally employed industry personnel from our very own Macey Center gained valuable professional development experience; plus adult learners and high school students from Socorro Consolidated and Alamo-Navajo Schools, Rio Grande Valley Radio & Sound Company, the Loma Theater, the Magdalena and Socorro Community Theater, Alamo Co-op Gallery, local musicians and artists, creating opportunities to use the knowledge and skills gained through these courses in their creative endeavors. One student gained employment with our theater and several others have committed to volunteering during the upcoming Fall and Spring semesters.

We are hiring two graphic designers in support of print, web and social media marketing efforts. And the Creative Industries Award paid numerous local, in-state, regional and national artists, arts organizations and arts businesses.

Community, Stakeholder and Industry Participation

The NMT Performing Arts Series collaborated with many of our long-time partners to facilitate a number of the community events and projects listed. For example, we worked with the City of Socorro to present community outreach events like our annual Community Arts Party, a free day-long event featuring over 40 arts and crafts projects presented by local artist, educator and student volunteers; the annual 4th of July Celebration, another free day-long event featuring New Mexico music artists, food vendors, fun activities for kids and families, and one of New Mexico 's largest fireworks displays done by NMT's Energetic Materials Research and Testing Center (EMRTC). These and other events engaged many of our stakeholders and community partners including:

AAUW - Socorro & NMT Student Chapters
Alamo Coop Art Gallery & Gift Shop
City of Socorro Tourism Department
Friends of the Bosque del Apache National Wildlife Refuge
Magdalena Artists and Events
NMT C.L.A.S.S. Department
NMT Student Government Association and Student Clubs
Socorro Breweries & Presenters of Live Music
Socorro Community Band
Socorro Community Theater, Inc.
Socorro County Food Trucks & Restaurants
Socorro Crafters
Socorro Musicians

Overall Economic Contributions

These activities support economic development in central New Mexico by teaching in-demand skills for live entertainment event production, some of which are also applicable to the film industry which is looking to expand throughout the state of New Mexico and has already hit Socorro County, and for producing and presenting more tech intensive shows and events. This award helped to support local and in-state arts businesses, artists, arts organizations and businesses and organizations that support artists and creative industries. It supported providing arts, entertainment and arts education options for the local community and in-state tourists which contributes to economic prosperity and quality of life for Central New Mexico.

Expert instructors offered advice and skills on gallery exhibitions which will improve the quality of artists and diversity of exhibitions. We gave greater visibility to a variety of local culinary artists, adding fun and artistic food options to all the activities for which we used the Creative Industries award. We diversified our marketing efforts creating greater visibility for all our events and attractions.

Deliverables

The Creative Industries Division objectives/duties we strived to support with this award are: increasing and advancing the creative industry-based economic development in New Mexico; supporting entrepreneurs and small businesses within the industry; assisting organizations that support creative industry companies and workers; supporting educational and workforce training initiatives that facilitate creative industry growth and success; identifying and helping establish public infrastructure to support creative industries; serving as an information clearinghouse by providing resources and opportunities to creative industry stakeholders; and acting as a liaison between creative industries-related businesses and organizations.

With these objectives in mind, we focused on our creative strengths which align with the creative enterprises identified by the Creative Industries Division: performing arts, visual arts, entertainment, media, graphic design, gallery exhibitions, technology, promotion, marketing, culinary arts. The following are the results.

Deliverable 1 - Funds Expended: $24,907.79

Train high school, college, and adult learners on state-of-the-art equipment in all aspects of event production: lights, sound, rigging, stage crew, set design, podcasting, live streaming, digital documentation, art exhibit production, graphic design, booking entertainment and venues, marketing, promotion, communications, and fundraising. Provide advanced professional development to practicing theater techs; and live-streaming and video documentation of classes.

• Live Entertainment: Tech and Production - A 9-module, Semester Class

Classes took place Thursdays, 6-9pm; Fridays, 12:30-4:30pm; Saturdays, 10am-1pm, which were also live-streamed. This schedule was designed to allow high school students to attend evening, weekends and on Fridays when there is no school; for full-time workers to attend at least one evening and one weekend class, and be able to watch the live stream when they could not attend.

Students could enroll for a full-credit college class, a dual credit high-school/college class or a community education non-credit class; they could sign up for 4 modules or 8 modules. Community members could also attend individual classes for a $10 drop-in fee, and receive all the course materials. Full-credit students were required to do hands-on technical support for PAS shows and community events. All other students were offered hands-on opportunities to supplement their learning and most enrollees took advantage of this.

Enrollee Statistics

4-Module Community Ed Class -- 4 enrolled; 3 completed all 4 modules

8-module Community Ed Class -- 6 enrolled; 2 completed all 8 modules

Deliverable 2 - Funds Expended: $29,770.35

We originally stated that we would expand visibility and participation in annual events. We actually implemented and utilized our award to produce and support the presenting of NM Tech Performing Arts Series (NMT PAS) Touring Shows and Arts in Education, as a flagship program in Central New Mexico. NMT PAS improves the quality of life for local residents and neighboring communities within a 150-miles radius by providing quality arts and entertainment options; provides artist and technical theater full-time, part-time and contractor positions to local, in-state, regional and national artists; contributes to economic health by paying for culinary arts services, lodging, arts materials and marketing services; provides arts education programs to three school districts and more than 2,500 Socorro County and neighboring county youth.

Creative industries funds were used to support artist fees, rent and technical production for public performances and educational lecture-demonstrations, including the following:

- National Dance Institute - Socorro

3-Week In-School Residency and Performances for students and community members.

Participants: 200 students, K-10, but primarily Socorro's 4th graders
